

Thea Gilmore, Don't Come Close

You know it's generally known
You got everything at home
Kisses out of desperation
Bring you more aggravation
And you don't come close
You don't come close
You don't come close

You bring out your souvenirs
Soak them wet with your tears
You lose your imagination
Out of more aggravation
And you don't come close
You don't come close
You don't come close

You turn red with rage
But act your age
The only thing that you regret
You need more time to forget

Well, you know it's generally known
You got everything at home
Kisses out of desperation
Bring you more aggravation
And you don't come close
You don't come close
You don't come close

You turn red with rage
But act your age
The only thing that you regret
You need more time to forget
And you don't come close
You don't come close
You don't come close
You don't come close
No, you don't come close
No, you don't come close
