

The new no2, Choose What You're Watching!

The world continues to dissolve
It's sad how we just keep devolving
And the smaller it all goes
All the stranger it's becoming
The way you're perceived is regal
On the televisions by the people
You don't fool us: we think you're evil
And your methods are illegal
They control you with your fear
And they fill your eyes with greed
Then they're giving you impulses
To buy things that you don't need
The way you're perceived is regal
On televisions by the people
You don't fool us: we know you're evil
And your methods are illegal
They choose what you're watching and you don't mind
They choose what you're watching cause they're so kind
They choose what you're watching and you don't mind
Dunno what you're watching and you don't mind
The way you're perceived is regal
On the televisions by the people
You don't fool us: we know you're evil
And your face should be illegal
