

Therapy?, Our Love Must Die

My dear young lover, this is just to say I'm gone
I couldn't leave you if I faced your eyes and shaking
It was my emptiness that kept me hanging on
Forgive my loneliness, there's nothing I could say
And this is why our love must die

I thought of other girls when you made love to me
You gave yourself too much and I took full advantage
The more I pushed you back the more you clung to me
Don't want to be the one who reminds you of your father
This is why our love must die

My dear young lover, that was just to say I'm gone
I couldn't face you just the morning after, shaking
I'll come back one day when I feel so alone
Until then I know I'll just get my things and go
And this is why our love must die

Our love must die, our love must die
Our love must die, our love must die
Our love must die, our love must die
Our love must die, our love must die