They Might Be Giants, Man, It's So Loud In Here

They fixed up the corner store like it was a night club It's permanently disco Everyone is dressed so oddly I can't recognize them I can't tell the staff from the customers

Baby check this out, I've got something to say Man, it's so loud in here When they stop the drum machine and I can think again I'll remember what it was

You have to carry all your things You can't misplace them There's nowhere to place anything

Baby check this out, I've got someting to say Man, it's so loud in here When they stop the drum machine and I can think again I'll remember what it was

They're all shouting something at us, waving and pointing They revamped the airport completely now it looks just like a night club Everyone's excited and confused

Baby check this out, I've got someting to say Man, it's so loud in here When they start the love machine and I can love again I'll remember what it was

Baby check this out, I've got someting to say Man, it's so loud in here Man, it's so loud in here
