

Thin Lizzy, Old Flame

There's a girl I'll remember
Oh for such a long, long time
This girl I'll remember
She was an old flame of mine

Beneath the stars just sipping wine
Young lovers then in summertime
I'll always remember
That old flame of mine

Love, she comes and goes
True love, she hides then shows
My love, may I propose
That love she comes and goes

Two hearts together two hearts alight
To keep us warm on winter nights
With each dying ember
I remember that old flame of mine

Once this flame it did brightly blaze
Among the ashes there still remains
A glowing spark in my heart
For that old flame of mine