

This Providence, My Beautiful Rescue

I've been jumping from the tops of buildings
For the thrill of the fall, ignoring sound advice and any thought of consequence
My bones have shattered, my pride is shattered
And in the midst of this self-inflicted pain, I can see my beautiful rescue
I'm falling more in love with every single word I withhold
I'm falling more in love with every single word you say
I'm falling head over heels for you
I've been dancing on the tops of buildings
At the top of my lungs I'm singing you a song don't you leave me alone
My bones are shattered, my pride lay shattered
Well I'll trample my pride and tell the whole world to dance with me
I'm falling more in love with every single word I withhold
I'm falling more in love with every single word you say
I'm falling head over heels for you again.
Well I'm crying out, wash my hands these bloody hands Lord,
Open my mouth and I'll sing, woah oh oh oh.
I'm falling more in love with every single word I withhold
I'm falling more in love with every single word you say
I'm falling head over heels for you.
I've been dancing on the tops of buildings, with you.