

Thornley, The Lies That I Believe

Around it comes and round it goes
Around it swims around my head
All of us are lonely souls and all of us get left for dead
How come i always try to cross
even though i know the bridge is burning?
How come i take it when i know that you fake it?
I tell myself i'm leaving
The lies that i believe are simple
The lies that i believe are true
The lies that i believe are so beautiful
The lies that i believe are true
All the flings and the flaws
Let me cling to someones clause
All of us are lonely souls and all of us mend broken laws
Even though i know the bridge is burning?
How come i take it when i know that you fake it?
I tell myself im learning
The lies that i believe are simple
The lies that i believe are true
The lies that i believe are so beautiful
The lies that i believe are true
Everyone uses, everyone abuses
Nobody take the blame
Everyone uses, everyone abuses
Ain't it such a shame
The lies that i believe are simple
The lies that i believe are true
The lies that i believe are so beautiful
The lies that i believe are true
