

Tickle Me Pink, Go Die

Everything I thought was true turned into a lie.
After all the time we spent what is there to pride.
This is my dawning day,
the old will change with haste when you let our future fade away.
Lay beside the moonlit ocean, gazing into the sky.
Then I cried up through the blackness, waiting for a reply.
It's been so long since I saw you, but it's been the time of my life.
Now that it's all over I want you to go die. Die.
Reflecting on our memories, I never felt at peace.
Why would I be with you, when you are never pleased.
This is my dawning day,
the old will change with haste when you let our future fade away.
Lay beside the moonlit ocean, gazing into the sky.
Then I cried up through the blackness, waiting for a reply.
It's been so long since I saw you, but it's been the time of my life.
Now that it's all over I want you to go die.
Die. Go die, die.
Can you feel me scream out loud? You left me out to try.
Can you feel me scream out loud? You left me out to dry.
Whisper in the air, don't try to save the night.
It's been so long since I saw you, but it's been the time of my life.
Now that it's all over I want you to go die. I want you to go die.
Or stay out of my life.