

Tim Christensen, Lost And Found

no one knows
where you're going
cause you don't show anything there's no questions you reply so no reason to deny
you just want it back

came in close
for the big time
but an underdose tied you down now i got to elt you know that i hate to see you go but you just want it back

you begin
with everything to win in whatever you try
you can't choose
everything you lose
and whenever you try
you cry
now that it's time to surrender whatever you try to remember

so no one knows
where you're going
but i am close
i just have to see your face when it all falls into place try and take it from a friend you should ask yourself again oh no you don't want it back