

Tim Finn, Couldn't Be Done

We had no idea that it couldn't be done
And we needed to find a like-minded someone
Who had no idea that it couldn't be done
No idea

Send the darkness back to Europe
Waking up in the warm Pacific Sun
And when they tried to tell us that it can't be done
We've got to prove them wrong
They said it couldn't be done

We had no idea that it couldn't be done
And we needed to find a like-minded someone
Who had no idea that it couldn't be done
No idea

It would be best if you went away for a while
And somehow learned to wear a smile
At least these eyes are open now
They are the ones the bitter tears fell from
When they said it couldn't be done

We had no idea that it couldn't be done
And we needed to find a like-minded someone
Who had no idea that it couldn't be done
No idea it couldn't be done
No idea

When you and I combine
We're coming up from under
In some other state of mind
Filled with a sense of wonder

No idea

Now the coast is clear and the case has been won
And we lost our fear that it couldn't be done
All we needed to find a like-minded someone
Who had no idea that it couldn't be done
No idea it couldn't be done
Who said it couldn't be done?
