

Tim Minchin, So Long (As We Are Together)

I saw your weeping eyes
Reflected in the window of a Boeing 727
You looked down at the city
Saw it slowly growing tiny
As the sunset turned Hell's Kitchen into Heaven

You turned your face to me
And I tucked your hair behind your ears
Said, nothing can go wrong

So long as we are together
So long as we are, so long
So long as we are together
So long as we are, so long

And if we'd met to day
I wonder if we'd met this way
Would you have anything to say to me?
Stare out at the breakers, as our silence slowly stretches
And the storm clouds darkened in conspiracy

You turned your face to me
And I, I can't read your gaze
You said nothing can go wrong

So long as we are together
So long as we are, so long
So long as we are together
So long as we are, so long

Kiss these lips please, stop words forming
Just say you'll stay, until the morning
And if you go, just give me warning
Just say you'll stay, 'till the morning

So long as we are together
So long as we are, so long
So long as we are together
So long as we are, so long

So long as we are together
So long as we are, so long
So long as we are together
So long as we are, so long
