Tim Minchin, So Long (As We Are Together)

I saw your weeping eyes Reflected in the window of a Boeing 727 You looked down at the city Saw it slowly growing tiny As the sunset turned Hell's Kitchen into Heaven

You turned your face to me And I tucked your hair behind your ears Said, nothing can go wrong

So long as we are together So long as we are, so long So long as we are together So long as we are, so long

And if we'd met to day
I wonder if we'd met this way
Would you have anything to say to me?
Stare out at the breakers, as our silence slowly stretches
And the storm clouds darkened in conspiracy

You turned your face to me And I, I can't read your gaze You said nothing can go wrong

So long as we are together So long as we are, so long So long as we are together So long as we are, so long

Kiss these lips please, stop words forming Just say you'll stay, until the morning And if you go, just give me warning Just say you'll stay, 'till the morning

So long as we are together So long as we are, so long So long as we are together So long as we are, so long

So long as we are together So long as we are, so long So long as we are together So long as we are, so long
