Tina Turner, When The Heartacke Is Over

Once in a lifetime you find Someone to show you the way Someone to make your decisions I let you lead me astray

Who did you think you were fooling Said you were missing But the truth is I knew you were lying You were using me time to time

When the heartache is over I know I won't be missing you Won't look over your shoulder Cause I know that I can live without you

Oh, live without you Oh, I can live without you

Trying to move on Leaving the past all behind I can make my own decisions It's only a matter of time

Sometimes I look like an angel Thinking about all the pain But I know that I'm stronger without you And that I'll never need you again (rpt 1....)