

Tinman Jones, Superhero

I've never heard of a superman who could mend a broken heart
I've never heard of a sherlock homes who was ever quite this smart
I've never seen an incredible hulk with the strength to move the earth
I've never heard of a wonder woman who could give me a new birth

But I know one who has super power
To heal your wounds on the inside
To hear your cries from the dark side
To meet you where you are and I know I know

Jesus wants to be your superhero
Jesus wants to be your superhero

I've never heard of a big kahuna who could ever walk a wave
I've never heard of a spartacus liberating every slave
I've never heard of a Michael Jordan who could ever fly this high
I've never heard of a John Lennon who imagines like this guy

But I know one who has super power
To heal your wounds on the inside
To hear your cry from the dark side
To meet you where you are and I know I know

Jesus wants to be your superhero
Jesus wants to be your superhero
