Titiyo, Hold Her Tight

He feels emotions flow The sun is rising slow And makes her blue eyes glow He just wants her to know Things around him have been a mess She cured his sickness And I guess what he feels now Scares her somehow But I know she'll be all right If he could shut up tonight And just hold her tight This is a place for ends Where it all begins again And what he's about to say Scares her in a way But I know she'll be all right If he could shut up tonight And just hold her tight