

Tizzy Bac, Shall We Dance

I don't love you, boy if I've said
I didn't mean it, honey you knew
Now it's too late, I have to leave
But I hope you'll be happy

I should forget all about this but I still don't make it
The old scar still aches
Even so I try not to lose my mind
And not feel depressed

Life's a round dance, we're young and gorgeous,
Step by step, moving at the same pace,
Daylight shall come, we'll wave goodbye
But before that we can flame the night
So let's cross over and over till we're all in whirl hitting the ground then we can laugh louder and louder till our tears rush down as a river, beautiful river (real beautiful river)

My dear old friend, if I've hurt you
I didn't mean it, honey you knew
I really love, more than I could
I really do

I want to be a better person, but life's never easy
I know that well
So I go round and round, struggle on and on Just to meet you

If you want to take the road to the milky way, Let me drive,
Through the broken night,
we can talk about how these shiny days warm your mind,
Close your dusky eyes, let me in your heart, we can try to see different sights

World is affable, somethings crude enough
Life is wonderful, somethings sucks you dry
I will show you how, we will all survive
Don't you try

Dance me with your love
Like we were never apart
Sing me with your tender voice
Like we were never apart
