To/Die/For, Jaded

I never meant to hurt you so but here I am again embracing someone else it never seems to change

I know my heart belongs to you but it yearns for someone else I cannot help myself

I've begged you to forgive me a thousand times before this time it's impossible don't want me anymore and you took your things and at the door you waved a quick goodbye there is nothing left to say just bitter tears to cry living a lie ain't easy truth comes out and kills our jaded love I want you to forgive me find a way to save this jaded love