

Tokyo Rose, Don't Look Back

You keep insisting you're the one to blame.
But why are you the only one in pain?
They ask for so much more than they deserve credit for.
Who needs them?
What's in a name, anyway?

If you leave them behind you, I won't let them find you.
If you choose to sever the ties, refuse to swallow their lines.
If it's not right for you, you've got the right to move on, move on, move on.

I know they'll make you out to be the fool.
But you'll grin and bear it.
You'll play it cool, because you're so cool
Degrading, berating, they're so sadly mistaken.
When they call it love, I'll call their bluff.
Just let me remind you, that I'll be behind you.

If you choose to sever the ties, refuse to swallow their lines.
If it's not right for you, you've got the right to move on, move on, move on.

You've got to move on for what you want.

You've got to choose to sever the ties, refuse to swallow their lines.
If it's not right for you, you've got the right to move on, move on, move on.