

Tokyo Rose, Meghan Again

With these glasses on
I can still see the colours that you give this place
So soft and warm
But I can't take it in all at once
So I close my eyes

Maybe behind this new facade
You won't notice it's me
If I became somebody else
You could let yourself fall again

With this jacket on
I can still smell your sweetness in the February air
Like peppermint
But I can't take it in all at once
So I hold my breath

Maybe behind this new facade
You won't notice it's me
If I became somebody else
You could let yourself fall again

I'll fool myself into thinking that it's me that you want
And I promise I'll believe the things you said
In convincing me our stars are aligned
And that we're destined to be

Maybe behind this new facade
You won't notice it's me
If I became somebody else
You could let yourself fall again

Just Let yourself fall again
Just let yourself fall again
Just let yourself fall again