

Tom Jones, I'm coming home

I'm coming home to your loving heart
To the one that I once
Threw away and broke apart
I want you, I need you
A chance is all I'm asking now
I must get back to you somehow
So I am coming home to you
Cause I am nothing without you
Maybe you've found somebody new
But I'm still coming home to you
Please let me stay and forget your pride
Now my world is falling round
I got nowhere to hide
I want you, I need you
I know it's true I made you cry
Then like a fool I said goodbye
Now I am coming home to you
Yes, life is nothing without you
Maybe you've found somebody new
But I'm still coming home to you