

Tom Odell, Daddy

keep waking up in the freezing cold of your mother's tears coming through the walls that same old feeling spinning around your head your daddy's leaving town again and you can hear your baby sister scream your innocence get up and leave it's that same old feeling spinning around your veins

your daddy's leaving town again

and again /2x

and I blame myself for I do
and I blame myself for I do
and I blame myself yest it's true for you

keep walking on the bedroom floor seeing shadows underneath your door it's that shame old feeling spinning around your head when your daddy's leaving town again
and again /2x

and I blame myself for I do
and I blame myself for I do
and I blame myself yest it's true
for you