

Tom T. Hall, It Feels Better Now

It feels better now I got time out of the way
It feels better now you said it would someday
Like miles behind a runner I watch the passing summers
Take the hurt away oh it's good to say it feels better now
It feels better now my friends forgot your name
It feels better now they think I've done the same
Circumstance protects us from things that will not let us
Get a goodnight sleep I seldom weep it feels better now
It feels better now I learned to smile again
It feels better now I've got some super friends
The ticks and tocks of passing time that were like hammers in my mind
Have built a wall that hides it all it feels better now
