

Tom T. Hall, Mysterious Fox Of Fox Hollow

The mysterious fox of fox hollow he doesn't have many friends he hides in the forest behind a big rock he sniffs with his nose in the wind

Chorus: You'll never see him there's no need to look He'll hide in the grass or he'll hide in a bush sometimes he will run and jump over a log for he is afraid of your dog-- woof! woof!

he plays with a foxy old bunch he comes out at night to steal chickens and someday he might steal your lunch.

Chorus

you asked me how i know tough i've never seen him one day at the barn i saw his tracks in the snow.
