

Tom Waits, Smuggler's Waltz

Daggers of moonlight Murder the sheets in the stink of a four dollar room And Daddy's gone a-hunting for a dimebag of schoolboy Tied up with a yellow balloon

So hush little baby daddy must go
I'll cover you up with a blanket of snow
By the time I make Jersey you'll be in heaven
In a pretty blue shoe box, I know

So sing a song of ten grand with a pocket full of dough
And I can't take you to Baltimore Wake God up in heaven
Have him look down below There's a little lost angel blooming in the snow
