

Toni Childs, Welcome To The World

hush, now and go to sleep go to sleep my baby (repeat) let me welcome you to this world and let me tell you of my world how it is and how it is you want to know now I want to say that it's a bad world and tell you that it's so, so bad I don't want to disappoint you my child but this world is gonna take you gonna take you by storm child you will be hurt and there will be pain, yeah but there will be love just the same, yeah welcome to the world my boy and girl welcome to the world, welcome to the world welcome to the world child and all it has in store you will do what you do what you choose any old time and take how you take you'll begin to find that fight as you fight as you will in life solutions, confusions won't you take this time now

I want to welcome you to this world and yes, there'll be days and nights when you know the world is alright round and round the world we go easy come, some say, easy go the world could be a better place but it's going to take the whole human race we want to welcome you to this world

when you'll wonder is the world right
when you'll know the world is alright we all bounce on the big world ball come child, come with me come and bounce onto this world and see (repeat) we are joy

we are light we are darkness and we are night we are hands and heads and ears and nose we are feet, fingers, limbs and toes we all, we all we are bouncing on this big world ball we pull triggers we play with guns we play with shoelaces and we twist our tongues we are kisses

we are huggs
we are the match that will light you off
