

Toni Childs, Where's The Light

well, I'm addicted boy and now I want some peace but I don't think the money's gonna take away the need and yes I'm hurting girl but you won't see it much cause it's the stuff we don't let out it's what you will not touch what it is now heart what we need to find it seems we're all looking for some peace of mind

where's the light, where's the light in the darkness of my life
in the darkness there is no light to be satisfied to go underground to swim inside the ocean descend to the profound to reach the bedrock

a guest
a psychic death
a wild thought I just caught
would this be the end can you help me now can you tell me please how to find some peace and relief
