

Tony Bennett, Young And Warm And Wonderful

You're All the World to Me

Tony Bennett

(Alan Jay Lerner/Burton Lane)

Everywhere that beauty glows you are,
Everywhere an orchid grows you are,
Everything that's young and gay, brighter than a holiday,
Everywhere the angels play you are.

You're like Paris in April and May

You're New York on a silvery day.

A Swiss Alp as the sun grows fainter,

You're Loch Lomond when autumn is the painter.

You're Moonlight on a night in Capri,

And Cape Cod looking out at the sea,

You're all places that leave me breathless,

And no wonder: you're all the world to me.

You're Lake Como when dawn is aglow,

You're Sun Valley right after a snow.

A museum, a Persian palace,

You're my shining Aurora Borealis

You're like Christmas at home by a tree,

The blue calm of a tropical sea.

You're all places that leave me breathless,

And no wonder: you're all the world to me.
