

Tony Hadley, After All This Time

Your promises are perfect
Your courage makes so strong
Holding on to something
How can this dream be wrong, oh

When you trust somebody
And all the thoughts they hold
Through good or bad you follow
Cause of the love you show

Oh it must be there for love
You know it must be there for love

After all this time
I can see the world so clearly
After all this time
After all this time
After all this time

Where ever life can take us
Whatever road you try
No matter what the reason
We're always by your side, oh

You felt the world against you
And you know we feel it too
But now we come together
Our spirit pulls us through

Oh it must be there for love
You know it must be there for love

After all this time
I can see the world so clearly
After all this time
After all this time
After all this time

Oh you know they say
That faith can save the day
And so it must be there for love
It must be there for love

And though you feel her pain
There's nothing you can say
But I'll still be there for love
I'll still be there for love
Must be there for love

After all this time
After all this time
After all this time
After all this time

After all this time
I can see the world so clearly
After all this time
After all this time
After all this time
