

Tony Joe White, Up In Arkansas

Got me a rocker without no arms ol&#039; wood stove to keep me warm
My firewood out of the rain I sit and watch the seasons change
There&#039;s a woman in Little Rock got plenty of money down in her sock
She come to see me time to time we sit on the porch and sip our wine
A man ought to know when he&#039;s got it all holding it down up in Arkansas

Coyotes howl in the night the rats ate my food but that&#039;s alright
Must have needed it more than me ain&#039;t no sweat I&#039;ll eat their cheese
Way back in the woods a hoot-owl calls making his rounds up in Arkansas

The eagle flies wild and free catches fish down in my creek
I watch him rise on the breeze I don&#039;t bother him he don&#039;t bother me

Walmart moves into town progress can&#039;t keep it down
Tourists come from miles around I sit on the porch the sun goes down
But I live way back from it all keeping it cool up in Arkansas in Arkansas
