

Tony Vincent, Love Falling Down

Another rainy morning has come to greet me dark, stormy clouds they fill my skies but when the lightening starts her flashing i feel my father rush to my side

I can feel His love falling down from the heavens and he's wrapping warm arms around my shivering soul i can hear his voice tenderly calling come take my hand let us go home

Another cold night has hushed my singing my weary soul drowns in the depth of my tears thats when i feel him lie down beside me and with strong hands, takes away my fears

(chorus)

From the single ' Love falling down'.
