

Too Bad Eugene, Homegoing

we don't play nice you and me, all we do is fight and bring each other down i'm feeling like y'm not wanted around so what do we do?
you're sick of me and y'm sick of you i think i'll just go home now i just want to be alone
'cause i've had enough i'm going to take some time to relax my mind
'cause everyone here is so unkind

i'm going home, leave me alone
i'm going home

we're like little boys who scream and fight over their toys but in our case pride always so eager to divide well, all friends fight but typically not every night it's gotten to my head the weight got too heavy for the thread i've taken enough i'm going to take some time let myself unwind i just need some peace and quiet

some time has passed away wounds turned to scars lessons learned from old mistakes the time has come and gone i hope your memories of me are fond i'm really not that bad it's just the circumstances we had but you've had enough we got to take some time rearrange our lives it's better for us on both sides

i'm going home
