

Too Many Cooks, Take It Right

(Georgesco D'Anjou)

Come on take it right

Don't let the fool get you down

Come on get it right

Be true to yourself

And everything will be just fine

Come on take it right

There's only so much you can do

Come on get it right

Stop running around like a headless goose

If you feel nothing's going your way

And if you feel you got something to say

You better get out there, sing it out loud

No one's gonna do it for you

Come on take it right

You're lycky to be oh so white

Come on shut it tight

Be true to yourself

And everything will be just fine

Come on stand up and fight

Don't be afraid to say what's right

Come on see the light

Life's just a game and no one's to blame

If you feel nothing's going your way

And if you feel you got something to say

You better get out there, sing it out loud

No one's gonna do it for you
