

Tool, Cry For You

you know i can't believe you all the things you say they're not true whoooo but i fear i can't just leave you all i feel is that i need you my love this is all my spirit can take any more and i will surely meet decay won't you reach out and touch my heart ache feel it beating please don't throw it away

i can't believe your careless lies your burning eyes pass through me i never thought our love would die but how could i, i could not see baby girl you know i need you can't believe that you would leave me this way if my pain will not appease you so it please you i've got nothing to say i now begin to realize you're not the girl i once knew but deep beneath those eyes resides that dying part of you (of you)

i will cry, cry for you (for you) i will cry, cry for you curtains drawn you shut the moon out as though it were bright as sun in the day while we crawl through the dimensions in your head you would show me a way

your burning eyes pass through me
see for you
i will cry, cry for you (for you)
i will cry, cry for you (for you)
i will cry, cry for you (for you)
i will cry, cry for you (for you)
i will cry, cry for you (for you)
