Looking over your shoulder girl, thinking you should have let me have it all.
If you're coming around again tell me how you feel cause I need to know.
I could be your love again if you just let me in.
We don't have to work it out cause I already know

Looking over your shoulder girl, thinking you should have let me have it all.

I could be your love again if you just let me in.
We don't have to work it out cause I already know

Walking in my silver blues, Tracked the dust to you.
I believed in something too. One more life with you.
