

Tracy Lawrence, Somewhere Between The Moon

Sittin here in ft.worth and for what it's worth
It might as well be timbucktu
Girl, I'm missing you
The further I go in life, the more I realize
I'm no closer to that elusive moon
I can't put out your fire cause everywhere I turn
Theres a memory to burn

(chorus)

Somewhere between the moon and you
I'm fighting off the chill of the cold hard truth
That rainbow I've been chasing left my whole world blue
I lost my dreams somewhere between the moon and you

I still see your smile and it haunts me every mile
Along this winding road
That I walk alone
They say that time should ease the pain
But in my heart a bitter rain still lingers on How could I have been so wrong
I climbed that ladder thinkin' I could never fall
Until I lost it all

(repeat chorus)

(tag)

That rainbow I've been chasin' left my whole world blue
I lost my dreams somewhere between the moon and you
