

Trapt, Brave

Reach out numb and I cant see
Black out guess I'm the one that can't breathe
His ass layin on freezing
His skin venting releasing
Rewind just no never know whats behind
Does any body know trust
In fact has any body seen me
Look back life was but a day dream.

Set it as receiving
Are all my loved ones breathing
And does it matter at all
If I was brave enough to fall
I'd find the answers
And now my backs against the wall
Forever
Big world and I am feeling small
More slow than faster
And I know I dont have it all
Together

Today every bodies slacking
And then wishing I was back in, high school where every thing's easy
Who cares just childhood teasing
In fact, now that its the present, Relax, Every bodies stressing
I dont know if I can take this, I some how gonna make it through

Set it as receiving
Are all my loved ones breathing
And does it matter at all
If I was brave enough to fall
I'd find the answers
And now my backs against the wall
Forever
Big world and I am feeling small
More slow than faster
And I know I don't have it all
Together

What you see is what you get
Must I remind this every second of my life to everyone who cant seem to find their own