

Travis, How Many Hearts

How many hearts
Does it take to break
All of the bonds
That young lovers make?
Hoping to find
The next golden egg
One that will shine
Through the rest of time

And how many roads
Must there need to be
Hoping inside
You could mean to me?
Open your mouth
Build your sermon there
Give me more time
Do the best I can

Hopelessly hoping our plan will wake up
Hoping it all will be fine
Holding our candles through weather or not
Love be the enemy now
Now for the rest of time

A long time ago
There was only me
And there was
No ring eternally
Won't be the same
No-one there to blame
No longer care

And you are, and you are a new age...

Hopelessly hoping our plan will wake up
Hoping it all will be fine
Holding our candles through weather or not
Love be the enemy now
Now for the rest of time

And you are, and you are a new age...