Treble Charger, In Your Way

What I heard yesterday Does not disturb me now It's nothing much to speak of, much less say There's something wrong, I know it

What I saw yesterday Set my teeth on edge What I could buy before was no more Than a reason ahead

What would you like to say? It's all been done, it's all been done You'll find nothing in your way It's all been done, it's all been done

What I knew yesterday Seemed enough at the time Should've guessed the way you left and didn't mind That I meant to hurt you