Tree63, Be All End All

Center of attention night and day I just hang on every word You say With worlds revolving 'round You silently How come You have all this time for me?

'Cause You spend all day inside my brain I'm overcome - hard to explain What am I supposed to do? I must have You

Chorus Be All End All Start me finish me Be All End All

You've been walking down my street again Now everybody wants to be my friend Beginning and the end of everything You're the only song I want to sing

I'm absolutely in pursuit Of something absolutely true And all around has come undone: You're the only one

Chorus
