

Tree63, It's All About To Change

It's the same thing, the same dream every time
You're running in a straight line
Speeding through the light

And you're stronger than you've ever been
In a place you've never seen
And everything is right

And something's calling
Something's haunting you
And you want it - and you want it

Chorus:
It's all about to change
Nothing stays the same
It's getting closer every single day

It's all about to change
It'll never be the same
Any day now you will start again

And you wake, a stranger to your bed
But science tells your head
That nothing looks the same in the light

And your day's spent looking for the dream
Is it going to come again?
Could anything be so bright?

Hear it calling
All day long
And you want it - and you want it

(Chorus)