

Trembling Blue Stars, You've Done Nothing Wrong

Sometimes I want to scream
Why did you abandon me
Don't think that I don't know that isn't fair of m
When you've done nothing wrong really

Sometimes I think that I was always there for you
And, when it came to it, you were not for me
But you've done nothing wrong really

No matter how I take the hurting out on you
I'll never get away from what is true
You've done nothing wrong really

Even though it's something I'd like to believe
You've done nothing wrong really

When I just let those feelings of resentment grow
I'm well aware, I always know
You've done nothing wrong really