

Trent Monk, Overwhelmed

I've tried in misery
To carry my own weight
Ignoring fires that burn me
And all my bones that break
My spirit buried under things that I have crowned
I was like a bird headed strait for the ground

But You opened me up
And You breathed in me

(Chorus)

And I found the sun in the rain
My tears have gone away
My sleeping heart is awake
And I'm overwhelmed by Your love for me

Brilliant colors now replace
What was once painted black
I'll shout it from the highest place
You won't see me looking back
I want this world to know
I want these colors to show
Paint through me a masterpiece

And You opened me up
And You breathed in me
With the air of Your love
And You set me free

(Chorus)(2x)

And I'm overwhelmed by Your love for me
