

Trespassers William, My Eyes Were Closed

Oh do you love me
Does it fade like a drying waterstain
Or if i beckon will you stay
Let me finish watching you change
Like a sunset
Just because i love doesn't mean
There's innately something inbetween
Turns out my eyes were closed
And so i didn't know
Turns out my eyes were closed
I'd thought that i was more
I've played the weakling
Not afraid to ride your sympathy like a train
But i never caught you completely
Just a wing that i couldn't keep
So intent feeling loving you
Thought that was all i knew how to do
Turns out my eyes were closed
And so i didn't know
Turns out my eyes were closed
I'd thought that i was more
