

Trik Turner, Temptation

"Temptation"

How can you stare into my face-
Knowing what you've done with my trust you've misplaced-
With your selfish needs you appease-
It brings you down to your knees-
Begging please forgive for my sins-
Turn around and do it again-
How many times will it take-
How many promises will I break-
Why is it so bad to only want what you can't have-
It's therapeutic it fills my soul-
It makes me feel whole and complete-
You get that feeling like your being lifted off your feet-
You forget about everything that was mentioned in the past-
And the important things with meanings erase fast-
Here I go again will it ever end I can't quit-
Temptation is the drug and I'm the addict-
Said, here I go again will it ever end I can't quit-
Temptation is the drug and I'm the addict-

(Hook)

Everyday I have to fight with these urges that feel so right
Just one more time no one has to know
The devil controls my soul
I'll risk everything, temptation gets the best of me it gets the best of you
Everything, two paths, two roads, only one to choose
All that was is not the same, temptation gets the best of you-

This is an ode to my enemies livin' that Hundred and three degrees black seas and Brown trees, there's a dust devil blowin' not
Knowin' if we're gonna survive so keep the faith
Alive, cause temptation gets the best of you
It gets the best of me it makes me fiend for
That green, money, power, sex and lust we must Learn not to trust the little man inside of us
Now if ya want to be down, ya best be on the Other side, time to bust, if ya wanna be that Buster you better come with us I still don't Trust ya

Temptation gets the best of me it gets the best of you
Two paths, two roads only on to choose

(Thanks to lisane_i@yahoo.com.br for these lyrics)