

Trish Thuy Trang, Letter From The Moon

somewhere out in the sun i let the joy of my life behind and all the things that made me smile has withered like the leaves of time said goodbye here at dawn where you and i would lay side by side the sun and moon could never fly together in the sky as on

Chorus:
halfway round the other side you cast the shadows of my lonely nights i miss the warmth and tender of your fire a letter from the moon i write spinning slowly again and shining in the hole in my heart my life with you alone in the dark

Chorus

rising out of the blue
and shining in the hole in my heart
and all that's left alone in the dark my letter from the moon- hoo-oo-oo-ooo
