

Tristan Prettyman, Simple as it should be

Put your hands to my hands
Put your knees to my knees
Put your eyes to my eyes
Come on baby compliment me
Cause I dont think that we Should ever feel the need to worry
Ever get ourselves in a hurry
You know I love you
I know you love me
So time will go
And we may be
Far apart I know
But as far as I can see
This is so good
Theres no need for change
Its alright with me
Its as simple as it should be
Simple as it should be
And this love will build
Through flights and streets
In the end I predict
Youll get the very best of me
So put your lips to my lips
Why not go on and take all of it
And just run as fast as you can
Just cause you can
Cause time will go
And we may be
Far apart I know
But as far as I can see
This is so good
Theres no need for change
Its alright with me
Its as simple as it should be
Simple as it should be
I am almost 23
Confused with all the lines in between
They are dying to be read
Softly spoken simply said
Tell me do you believe
In the girl that is me
With her feet to your feet
Well thats all that I need
Cause time will go
And we may be
Far apart I know
But as far as I can see
This is so good
Its alright with me
Its as simple as it should be
