

Triumvirat, Eleven Kids

You thought I loved you, like you did but I was telling lies and when the end came suddenly still love was in your eyes

Go out and find another man aboard the auto-moped
but first make sure he's smelling good and then just go to bed

The restaurant has closed the door still, knock and I will let you in although I still remember a lot of places where we've been

Please begin to realize that your love has gone down the drain your efforts never changed my mind to me they're all in vain

I knew whenever I thought of you as my woman with eleven kids (I'll bet if I tried, it wouldn't fit)

You thought I loved you, like you did
but I was telling lies
and when the end came suddenly
still love was in your eyes

Go out and find another man
aboard the auto-moped
but first make sure he's smelling good
and then just go to bed

The restaurant has closed the door
still, knock and I will let you in
although I still remember
a lot of places where we've been

Please begin to realize
that your love has gone down the drain
your efforts never changed my mind
to me they're all in vain

I knew whenever I thought of you
as my woman with eleven kids (I'll bet if I tried, it wouldn't fit)