

Trixter, As The Candle Burns

It's been such a long time but, I'm on my way back home again.
Back to the ways I knew before. Back to the ones I left behind.
It's over now and it's time to see things in a different light.
Back to the faces of yesterday. Out of this fantasy.
I've traveled miles high and low,
And I've seen the world through these eyes.
For every living day I know, it takes more to get me by.
As the candle burns I've learned one thing:
To live your life but say a prayer for all that you've got.
As the candle burns, trust and honesty.
Just follow your heart and swear by the ones that you love,
As the candle burns.
It's a life for the taking it's a life that surrounds you,
Full of liars and thieves.
But it's the truth that pulls you through. Back to reality.
Through all the years and painful tears,
It's been a mountain that I must climb.
And for every living day it's clear, I've turned a page in time.
As the candle burns, I've learned one thing.
To live your life and say a prayer for all that you've got.
As the candle burns, trust and honesty.
Just follow your heart and swear by the ones that you love.
As the candle burns.
I've traveled miles high and low,
And I've seen the world through these eyes.
For every living thing I know,
It takes more to get me by.
As the candle burns, I've learned one thing.
To live your life and say a prayer for all that you've got.
As the candle burns, trust and honesty.
So follow your heart and swear by the ones that you love.
As the candle burns.