

Trout Fishing In America, Soon The Night

(K. Grimwood/E. Idlet)

I know you're mad at me, but I don't want to fight you,
And I know we disagree, but I don't want to argue,
Soon the night will fall, take these troubles from our lives;
Soon the night will fall, and fill the starry skies.
Let's take a little drive, let's take a little time out,
Try to keep our love alive, and everything will work out,
Soon the night will change everything, it's not as serious as it seems;
Soon the night will fall, and we'll remember what it means.
It's not that I don't care any more, 'cause I do;
Don't you ever doubt me, girl, 'cause I swear my love is true.
Soon the night will fall, take these troubles from our lives;
Soon the night will fall, and fill the starry skies.
I know it's gettin' tense, is there somethin' you can't tell me?
But just remember that we're friends, and friends can always say, "I'm sorry."
Soon the night will fall, take these troubles from our lives;
Soon the night will fall, and fill the starry skies.
Soon the night will change everything, it's not as serious as it seems;
Soon the night will fall, and we'll remember what it means.
