

Trust Company, Take It All

Looking up from underneath, as low as we are,
Nothing looks the same to me, am I deceived?
I stand and watch myself from somewhere else,
Something I don't want to see.

Take it all, so I'm left with nothing at all.
Have it all, 'cause I'm learning how to fall, yes I'm learning how to fall.

Standing up from underneath, as low as we are,
Things aren't what they used to be, was I deceived?
I stand and watch myself like someone else,

Something I don't want to see.

Take it all, so I'm left with nothing at all.
Have it all, 'cause I'm learning how to fall, yes I'm learning how to fall.

Why don't you fall? Fall.
Take it all, so I'm left with nothing at all.
Have it all, 'cause I'm looking out to fall,
I can't trust what I see; I can't tell if its me, it is changing.
Take it all, 'cause I'm learning how to fall, yes I'm learning how to fall.
